

Following next: Czech Republic

While in Germany the bikeway is somehow similar to the German highway we had to deal several times in the Czech Republic with country lanes which are quite difficult to drive on with our small truck but it also was real fun and adventurous driving on a mountain bike trail. But there were once and again beautifully passages where we could enjoy the cycling and where we had fun overtaking the other cyclists.

Wild Camping. Sarah stayed up the whole night listening to the noises. You never know if there might be someone sneaking around the tent.
